IFLR

2022 MEDIA PACK
IFLR provides essential reading for private practice, in-house counsel at financial institutions and corporates, senior regulators and policy directors by analysing and interpreting in-house expert opinion for capital markets, corporate and finance lawyers.

First published in 1982, our coverage today uniquely focuses on the law of international capital markets, banking, M&A, and financial regulation. As such, IFLR delivers credible insight and accurate intelligence by challenging conventional wisdom in the market, through non-partisan guidance and bringing a fresh angle to existing stories.
OUR CONTENT

EDITORIAL COVERAGE

IFLR focuses on capital markets, banking and corporate law, providing readers with detailed analysis of the latest emerging trends in these areas.

Supplemented by interviews with key industry players in both in-house and private practice, our editorial content provides critical industry insight, allowing you to know how the market is reacting and keep pace with it.

SPECIAL FOCUS

Our Special Focus articles showcase specialist insight from key industry players and contributing law firms on topical market developments.

Topics can cover fintech, M&A, corporate restructuring as well as key markets and regions such as Africa, China and South Korea.

LOCAL INSIGHTS

Local Insights articles allow firms the opportunity to provide regular, concise updates on recent developments in financial law in their jurisdictions.

Updates are concise yet in-depth and can be written by anyone in the firm.
